1. Write a Python program that will do the following:

   1. Import data from an external csv file.
   2. Find a fit for the data.
   3. Plot both the original data and the fitting function.
   4. Export the plot as a pdf.

   The data should be the same data for the Earth from your Excel exercise (including the random terms).